

Urban Agriculture and Sustainable Communities

Growing Food. In Your Neighborhood.

Throughout the country and here in South Carolina, we are seeing a shift in terms of how we nourish ourselves. During this Sustainable Conversation, Elizabeth Beak of Crop Up will explore the role urban agriculture can play in cultivating greener, healthier, and more sustainable cities.

Crop Up is a consulting practice that focuses on community-based food projects throughout South Carolina. Crop Up partners with the growing number of individuals, neighborhoods, designers, businesses, schools, municipalities, non-profits, and state agencies responding to their community's food needs with resilient acts: home victory gardens, neighborhood community gardens, zoning ordinances, urban farms, or access to markets.

Snacks and refreshments will be served. We look forward to seeing you soon!

Thursday, April 25 | 6:00 to 7:30 p.m.
Hughes Main Library | 25 Heritage Green Place

Find out more at:
connections.greenvillesc.gov